Planners Delay Action On All Saints' Request For Parochial School Permit

A difference of opinion between planning commissioners, yesterday afternoon, delayed action on a use permit to operate a grade school in the residence zone requested by All Saints' Parish. The matter was continued until August 16 with the approval of Lewis Fenton, parish warden, who represented the Episcopal parish at the commission meeting.

Briefs...

Everybody has an opinion of the library board's proposal to enlarge the Harrison Memorial Library, most of them fiercely opposed to such a project for fear some of the garden will have to be sacrificed to new structures.

School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell returned from Alaska last week with an idea that has nothing to do with Alaska. "Why doesn't the city close Lincoln Street between Ocean and Sixth, and build the library annex there?" He suggested. "It would be next door to the library. The annex could be beautifully landscaped, and there could be rustic footpaths for pedestrian traffic between Ocean and Sixth."

An idea that should appeal to the planning commission—a little mail consultation prize for their big Ocean Avenue Mall that nobody would let them have.

Pacific Telephone, this year, has a picture of the Pinnacles on the cover of their directory. Carmel distribution began this week and by August everyone will be discarding the Colton Hall covered directory and, if you are like us, wondering why you haven't visited the Pinnacles more often. San Benito is a remarkable county, but apart from rodeos in San Juan and trips up Highway 101, most of us have neglected its 1,386 square miles.

There is good reason why the Pinnacles have been set aside as a National Monument. Aside from the caves, where benefits hid in California's early days, the Pinnacles offers uncommon lava formations and are exceedingly interesting geologically as well as scenically. It's hot there now. Spring and fall, especially winter between the rains, is the time to go.

The county planning commission, Tuesday afternoon, voted against rezoning seven acres of Mission Ranch land from residential to commercial use. The Mission Ranch will continue to operate as a nonconforming use in a residential zone.

Petitions against the rezoning, signed by 90 percent of the residents of the Mission Tract, immediately adjacent to the Mission Ranch, were received by the commission. Property owners of the area also spoke against the rezoning before the commission with Colonel Sheburn Robison leading the opposition.

A graveyard, estimated to be more than 1,000 years old, was recently unearthed by construction equipment when land was graded for the P. G. & E. plant in Morro Bay.

John S. Cramer, of Sacramento, secretary-treasurer of the Central California Archeological Foundation, said the site was discovered by a local farmer.

School Tax Rate Up In Addition To Assessment Boost

The Carmel Unified School District tax rate will be $2.77 more or less a cent, if the school board adopts the budget published on Page 10, this issue of the Pine Cone.

Carmel taxpayers who thought the worst that could happen to them, after County re-assessment doubled their property valuation, would be double school tax bill.

This is 15 cents higher than the 1960-61 rate because the latest bond issue retirement tax is included for the first time.

The budget uses up all of the $160,000 windfall that comes to the school district through the county reassessment of property which boosted Carmel City property valuation by $4,500,000.

Public hearing on the budget has been set for August 2.

Study of the published budget will reveal what the school board proposes to do with the easiest $160,000 that ever came their way. They have discharged former board member George Yates warning that it wouldn't be easy for the taxpayer, and found a place for all of it.

Some of the savings in the new budget are justifiable, such as the increase in salaries, but a $75,000 undistributed reserve is not; nor is capital outlay item of $70,150 which should not be financed by current taxes. And there are bits and pieces all down the line that

Bach Festival Reviews

By MARY LINDRAY OLIVER

During early days of the Carmel Bach Festival some events were held in the Carmel Mission, and this year one of the finest and most spectacular was presented there Wednesday evening. Since the Mission can accommodate only 400, many could not obtain seats, but listened outside.

Of all the great composers who expressed spiritual aspirations in their music, Johann Sebastian Bach was the constant. His greatest works, the two Passions, the B Minor Mass and the Magnificat are indeed worship, as are also the Song Mass by the Netherlands composer Isaac, the Motet from Sacrae Symphoniae, by Gabrieli and the Laudamus Te and Agnus Dei from Charpentier's Midwinter Mass on Christmas Carols which were given in the pictorial setting and fine acoustics of the Mission.

Led by two altar boys with huge candles, the red velvet-robed Festival Choir and conductor moved with dignity and reverence up the aisle to places in front of the altar rail from where the reverberation of their performance rang clear, true and full of the simple beauty of the compositions.

Presently part of the Chorus went down the aisle and climbed the old stone steps to the organ loft where Altman did wonders with the small organ and Salgo conducted the split choir, as well as a string ensemble from the orchestra. The color of the picture they formed in the candlelit building that later was alive with electric light produced a unique experience, the lights dimmed again when the Chorus received light for their candles from the altar boys as they all slowly retired down the aisle. Staged by Charles Thomas, nothing like it had ever been performed in the Festival be-

Board Quizzes Edwards About Dropped Courses

Isn't World History necessary? Why is the Russian language so unpopular? Are Carmel schools losing ground in the variety of courses offered because of the whims of students?

Carmel School District trustees heard these and similar questions last night during a discussion of courses dropped and uplified at Carmel High School for the coming school year.

School Board Happy To Wave Goodbye To Hard Luck No. 5

Carmel School District got rid of its hard luck charm this week. The jinxed item, which in times past seemed surely destined for the salvage heap, was sold for a surprising $3,500.

The item is, of course, the No. 5 bus, a vehicle which had been nursed by school mechanics through one crisis after another over the years. It broke down going up hills, wore out clutches, disrupted class schedules for long periods in the valley, and at times scrambled up the school's whole transportation system.

In short, the engineer who bent the throttle on the Old 97 probably never had the excitement regularly provided for the driver who held the wheel of the Old No. 5. So no one was surprised when the recent bond issue called for purchase of a new 20-passenger school bus to replace No. 5. Trustees are buying the new vehicle for $3,986.32 from Roller Chevrolet.

The board accepted the firm's low bid from a field of three at last night's meeting. But no dealer had offered a very substantial trade-in figure for the hard-luck bus, whose reputation was well known in Monterey County.

Then the Montezuma School District offered $3,500. "They're on flat terrain," explained Superintendent Stuart Mitchell, "and they felt they understood the peculiar nature of the No. 5. Let's hope so." Montezuma is the elementary district near Stockton.

For the local district the bonanza sale brought down the curtain on a long drama of misfortune, while over in Montezuma the curtain may be just going up. Let's hope not.

37 Local Painters, Cartoonists On AFA Studio Tour

On Saturday 37 celebrated painters and cartoonists living in Monterey, Carmel, Pacific Grove, Carmel Valley and Carmel Highlands will open their homes and studios to the public for the First Annual Artists Studio Tour sponsored by the Peninsula Chapter of American Federation of Arts.

Such distinguished painters as Neil Walker Warner, Gene Elmore, Rip Matteson, Robert Nelson, S. C. Yuan, Eugene Baker, Joshua Meador, will be at work in their own studios and at AFA Headquarters, 1136 Munras Ave., Monterey.

Nationally known painter Donald Teague will stir up a watercolor for tour visitors. Cartoonist Eldon Dedini (New Yorker and Esquire) will have his work on display in his Carmel home. In Carmel Valley, cartoonists Bob (The Better Half) Barnes, who is also a frequent contributor to The Saturday Evening Post, Lee (Pony Trail) Holly along with Frank O'Neal—(creator of Short Ribs) will be cooking up new gags and gambles in the Carmel Valley Center. Also in Carmel Valley tour visitors will find Peg Murray, who has promised to reveal his secret source for razor blades that are incorporated into many of his amusing and ingenious works. Geddis and Martin, puppeteers extraordinaire, will demonstrate their craft at the Tarentum Theatre, and Painter Egharing Doney, the unpredictable, will have a special surprise for those who visit his Carmel Highlands home.

CARMEL VALLEY WINS LITTLE LEAGUE PLAYOFF

Sparked by the brilliant pitching of husky David Marvin, the Carmel Valley Pistons defeated Carmel's San Carlos Realty in two straight games to wrap up the Little League title for this area. In Saturday's first playoff game, the Pistons powered to a 10-1 win over the realtors and came back on Tuesday to shut out Jack Miller's gang, 4 to 0. Marvin pitched both wins for the Valley nine, allowing two hits in the first game and registering a no-hitter the second time around.

Both games were played at the Valley Little League Park with overflow crowds on hand for the critical playoff tilts. By defeating the Carmel entry, the Valley lads earned the right to meet the winner of the Gilroy-Hollister playoff to see which team advances to the Little League Section Tournament at Greenfield.

The Pistons went to work in a hurry in the first playoff game, breaking in front, 4 to 0, in the first inning when Branch and Miyamoto dropped perfect bunts. Marvin drew a free pass, and catcher Bob Sinclair unloaded the sacks with a booming double. San Carlos got on the board in the second heat when Eric Low walked, was moved around to third on Ken Little's well-executed bunt, and scored on a wild pitch. This was the last offensive threat by the realtors as pitcher Marvin whistled his fast ball past the bats of the Carmel lads. The Pistons pecked away at pitchers Larry Little and Darryl Dawson for a pair of markers in the second inning and a fourth-inning rally put four more runs on the board. Branch, Miyamoto, and Marvin were the top hitters for the winners, while Dawson's two hits were the only blows garnered off the swift slants of pitcher Marvin.

In Tuesday night's rematch, the San Carlos crew put together a tighter game, but ran into the same difficulty—too much David Marvin. Pitching with the poise and precision of a big-leaguer, Marvin was the master all the way as he tossed a no-hitter at the hard-trying realtors. Besides a flawless job of pitching, Marvin was also a demon on the bases, scoring two runs as a result of some daring base-running. Bob Sinclair, Piston catcher, provided the big bat power in this one, hitting a 200-foot homer over the leftfield wall. Darryl Dawson and Steve King teamed up to pitch a six-hitter against the strong Valley nine, but their steady efforts couldn't match Marvin's near-perfect pitching job.

Piston managers, Jay Huffman and Gordy Miyamoto, will now sharpen their players for the invasion of either Gilroy or Hollister on Saturday, August 5. On the strength of the fine showing against San Carlos, the Valley crew appears capable of advancing to the Greenfield Section Tournament.

shortstop, in his first time at bat at the enlarged Little League Park, found the range for a homer over the leftfield fence. Olsen also collected a double and single to go with his four-master. Ron Berry continued his hot hitting streak for the Cards, getting a double and single and scoring three runs. Clinton Macy and Pen Rose each hit three-for-four to lead the Braves' hitters. Fielding gem of the night was turned in by Dana Scheid, Brave left-fielder, who reached over the fence to take a home run away from Randy Mapstead.

Tuesday evening, the Cards got by the rapidly-improving Navy PG School, 3 to 1, with Tim Head pitching the win. After going winless during the first half of the season, the Navy has come to life and is now one of the most feared teams in the league. Bill Woolsey and Howard Baxter's Giants felt the sting of the Navy power last Saturday morning when the PG School lads downed them, 4 to 0, on a one-hitter.

After being upset by the Navy, the Jade Tree Giants came back to post a 5-4 win over the spirited Valley Broncos. This was one of the best games of the current season, and could have gone either way. Behind 3-0 in the third heat, the Broncos exploded for three runs on the strength of a booming home run by Jerry Huff. The Valley went ahead in the top of the sixth only to have the Giants come back with two runs in the final heat to post the 5-4 victory. Matt Little's double provided the power in the two-run spurge which brought the win for the Giants.

Tonight's Pony League fare has the Giants going against the Cardinals; Friday night the Broncos tackle the Braves! Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock the Navy and Dodgers cross bats; and Monday's 6:00 o'clock game has the Giants meeting the Braves.

Letters To The Editor

Carmel, California
July 22, 1961

Carmel Pine Cone:

In regard to the recent article in the Pine Cone on complete ban of tote gotes in the national forest, first let me say I represent a lot of tote gote owners.

The national forest was set aside for the enjoyment of all people and they also set aside an area as a primitive area to preserve in a natural state for forest and wild life, with restrictions for all motor vehicles. As for the recent tote gote episode in the forest, all laws have been broken. I think the primitive area should remain closed. But why should there be a law banning tote gotes from the rest of the forest just because of a selfish few who don't know what they are talking about. There hasn't been any damage done by tote gotes as yet; no fires, no people injured on the trails. As for the person who said he saw tire tracks in the forest, well there are a lot of tracks in the forest: people, horses, animals. A tote gote doesn't do as much damage to a trail as horses and mules. Maybe this person ought to go to Pine Valley and see the damage done by horses. Half the trees have been cut down to make hitching racks and corrals for horses. That's in the primitive area, too.

How many fires have been started just by careless people who smoke? You don't have to be on a tote gote to start a fire. Next thing, he will want to ban the forest to all people who smoke.

It all boils down to this. There are quite a few people who like to ride tote gotes in the forest and there are a lot of people who like to ride horses and walk in the forest. Why discriminate against the ones who want to ride tote gotes.

Sounds selfish to me. I say, let's keep things the way they are.

Sir:

A recent news story suggests that consideration is being given to the permitting of wheeled vehicles to use trails in the Los Padres forest area—and this alarms me very much. For many years I have walked and ridden horseback over trails in forest areas in many parts of the United States, Canada and northern Mexico and I have never failed to note that as soon as wheeled vehicles began to use any trail—no matter what the terrain—that erosion and a general "widening" of the trail proper has occurred. These vehicles cannot help but enlarge the trail areas because they are constantly looking for smoother surfaces and absence of roots and natural drainage low spots.

As recently as three years ago I rode the trail to the top of Jacks Peak consistently and on many occasions I ran across evidence that the trail was being used by tote gotes or motorcycles several times actually meeting these vehicles on the trail. And when I discontinued riding that area and using those trails there were many evidences of the deterioration that had taken place through the breaking down of vegetation along the edge of the trails on the down hill side with resultant erosion and irreparable damage to the root system of the trees, bush and native growth.

No matter what so-called "rules" are laid down in an effort to control the situation I feel sure you will agree that they will be of questionable value once the trail is opened and these people begin to use it. There is no possible supervisory effort that can exercise the necessary degree of constant supervision and enforcement.

I sincerely hope that this permission to use ANY trails in primitive or semi-primitive areas will not be granted—keeping the door closed rather than opening a Pandora's box of difficulties—including additional fire hazards from exhausts and back-firing—in the face of our increasing need for wilderness areas that can be enjoyed by people who are willing to utilize a bit of physical effort in order to see nature at its natural level.

Sincerely

Kudos to Harry Beshore, (Pine Cone, July 20) in his recognition of certain of our citizenry possessed of the "ethics of common decency" in reference to the production of Tobacco Road at the Forest Theater.

I would if I might make a distinction between decency and propriety as so ably pointed out by Wilma Cook in the preceding issue, to wit: there is a place for the decent and the indecent in the commercial show places of this area. Places theatrical devotees may patronize or eschew as suits their taste, with which I have no quarrel.

In the case of the Forest Theater however, there is a tradition as old as, and as revered as, the fine beginnings of Carmel itself. The glories of Carmel are inherently intertwined with the memories of the fine and wonderful men and women who gave of themselves so unstintingly to bring grace and dignity to this unparalleled theatrical setting.

However, there is no such thing as appreciation of these finer things of life in those who lack the quality of reverence as I once pointed out in the Pine Cone, March 3, 1960 in making a plea, that the Carmel electorate should give consideration to the possession of the reverential quality in the candidates offering themselves for the Council. With this patent act of irreverence of our City Council as an object lesson, it may be that at our next election, Carmelians may be better alerted to

Korean Assignment Completed, J. Boyd Retires To Carmel

After 40 years in agriculture extension work, Joseph H. Boyd, a native of West Virginia is retiring and will make his home in Carmel. He has recently returned to the United States from Korea where he completed a four-year assignment with the U. S. mission there.

As an agricultural advisor, Mr. Boyd helped to plan the present research and extension service of Korea's Institute of Agriculture. With other American technicians and Korean officials, he worked out practical plans for the recruiting and training of extension agents.

In his work with the agricultural extension program, Mr. Boyd's chief aim was to help establish a program which would meet the needs of the 15,000,000 Koreans who depend on farming for their living. He visited the extension workers on their jobs and kept an eye on their activities. He assisted with demonstrations to show farmers such things as correcting soil acidity with lime, growing forest trees for fuel, controlling plant diseases and insect pests, using fertilizers and converting land and new crops and better uses.

Mr. Boyd encouraged the Agricultural Institute to adopt good administration practices and to direct research activities to current problems. He also recommended and helped to secure an adequate staff for extension field activities. Each "myon" or township now has at least one full time professional worker. The number of young women in the home economics field has been increased from 75 to 202, assuring a woman worker for each "gun."

To secure trained extension workers, young men are recruited from the colleges of agriculture at 14 Korean universities. They receive training in extension administration and activities at the Institute in Suwon, where facilities are being provided to train more than 200 students a year.

Mr. Boyd's long career in agriculture began when he became a county agricultural agent at Parkersburg, West Virginia, in 1921. He later served in this capacity for the rural areas outside of Cincinnati, Ohio, and became Ohio State specialist in vegetable crops with headquarters at Ohio State University. After a decade in this work, he assumed similar duties at the University of Hawaii in 1944 and at Penn State College in 1947. He returned to Hawaii in 1949 and until he went to Korea in 1956, was county agent supervisor for the Territory of Hawaii which included all the islands in the Hawaii group.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd have bought a home here, and are looking forward to extending hospitality to friends from the many places where they have lived.

Planners Differ About All Saints' Request For Parochial School

not conform in any way, although it is very pleasant," Mrs. Josselyn said.

Commissioner Wilcox stressed that traffic in the area of a proposed school should be considered and a quiet residential area should not be impinged upon by school activities. The average age of Carmel residents was higher than most communities and this should be considered in regard to preserving a quiet atmosphere in the residential district, he concluded.

Mrs. Josselyn reported that residents in the neighborhood of All Saints' Church had telephoned her objecting to the school. Mr. Smith's report stated that some residents of the area object to Cub Scout activities at the church, others welcome the proposed school.

Commissioner Fred Keeble objected to 11 of the 19 findings in Mr. Smith and Mr. Martin's report. He moved that the matter be continued until August 16 so that all commissioners will have time to consider and discuss the report, also Commissioner Dorothy von Meier will have returned by that time from a vacation, thus providing consideration of the full commission on the matter. Five of the seven commissioners must approve a use permit before it can be granted.

The proposed school would open this fall with only two classes, kindergarten and first grade. So far 16 applications for enrollment in these grades have been received, Mr. Smith's report indicated, also that enrollment would be limited to 40 pupils while the school operated at All Saints' site for two years.

In answer to a question from Chairman Herbert Blanks, Mr. Fenton replied that plans were to add a grade a year to the school. In the second year of operation therefore, enrollment could be 60 pupils. He added that the continuity of the school program was important. If desirable, the kindergarten class could be dropped in favor of adding a second grade class.

Location of the proposed school is between Dolores and Lincoln Streets south of Ninth Avenue. The play area would be in a courtyard between the church building and a wing recently added, containing administration and Sunday school facilities.

Later in the meeting, commissioners indicated that the present committee report system under which they now operate, was undesirable in respect to matters such as All Saints' request. Recommendations for approval of the Parochial school in the Smith-Martin report needed added study and consideration by the commission as a whole before action could be taken. Although Mr. Smith and Mr. Martin had given much time to the matter and prepared a detailed report, no action could be taken because other commissioners objected to the findings. The delay of nearly a month until the matter was again considered was not desirable, rather the whole commission should have considered the use permit request as a committee of the whole, following the public hearing on the school, was the opinion of Mrs. Josselyn, Mr. Wilcox and Mr. Keeble.

This discussion took place following Mr. Blanks' suggestion, on the agenda, that henceforth public hearings should take place at the commission's study session, the matter under consideration then be taken under submission, reports prepared and decisions reached at the commission's regular meeting the following week. No decision was reached on this proposal.

The Citizens Committee was granted a use permit for an information sign. Remodeling permits were given to Holland Court and George Tomlinson. Carmel Plaza was given a 90-day construction extension for a parking facility. Commissioners first granted a permit for the facility 15 months ago. Because of litigation they have been requested for several extensions. Yesterday commissioners indicated that unless court action took place within the present extension, the application for the parking facility should be resubmitted. They considered lengthy extension for litigation was establishing an undesirable precedent.

A zone of interest was established for the request of R. P. and I. A. Kaplan to rezone a residential lot across from their Vagabond House from residential to parking use.

Commissioners requested Secretary Larry Rose to arrange a meeting with Ernest DeJars of the county planning commission staff to obtain information required for a recommendation on commercial zoning in Carmel Valley near Carmel.

Bach Festival Reviews

THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Ludwig Altman's second organ recital at the Wayfarer Church presented works by Bach and students of Bach. In his program notes Altman states that Bach "never had any formal music instruction," yet his genius made him a successful teacher and influenced so many composers who followed him. Two of his sons, William Friedeman and Carl Philip Emanuel, were represented, and other students, then two brilliant Preludes and a Triple Fugue, and finally the Organ Chorale on Thy Throne I Now Approach, Bach's last composition dictated to his pupil Altnikol on his death bed. Altman, always plays so sympathetically its peaceful, far-off thoughts at every festival, fittingly leaving Bach in the Heaven he earned.

THURSDAY EVENING

Dealing with the history in Samuel of King Saul, his son, Jonathan, and the shepherd boy, David, who becomes Israel's ruler, Handel wrote some strong numbers for orchestra and chorus in interesting harmonic construction that Salgo brought out with his overall capacity and splendid vision for dramatic content which resulted, with the soloists, in one of the greatest performances of the week. McHenry Boatwright, whose voice and high stature appropriately represented the giant Saul in an individual concept of the monarch, proved himself again a really great artist. Paul Mayo as Jonathan, and James Tippey, David, tenor and baritone, were soloists of distinction. The soprano, Gwen Curatillo as Michal, daughter of Saul, splendidly filled the role, as did Pauline Law as the mysterious Witch of Endor, Richard Riffel, a warrior, and Thomas Paul, the highly articulate and dramatic ghost of Samuel who excelled in expressing his short bass role. Soprano Brunetta Mazzolini as the Israelitish Woman carried off her solos strikingly. Jacqueline Laying, Richard Riffel and Stephen Janzen were the Courtiers. The Chorus and Orchestra, indeed the whole performance, earned the standing ovation from the capacity audience for this distinguished work.

FRIDAY MORNING RECITAL

Gabor Rejto, the celebrated cellist, with Alice Rejto, accompanying played a wonderful recital at the Woman's Club. The Bach unaccompanied Suite No. 3 in C major which started his program required the whole range of cello technique which Rejto rendered with tremendous brilliancy and artistic concept. The Boccherini Sonata in A major and Bach's Sonata in D major received the full depth of expression. They were finely accompanied. The strength of projected atmosphere which each composition calls for is the stamp of an artist's spiritual power. Not only does Rejto do this but his tonal depth of fortissimo to pianissimo is extraordinary as, with feeling, he tapers off to a veritable whisper. Casals, who was Rejto's teacher, is the only other cellist who has moved me to the same extent. An outstanding event of the Festival, this great artist responded to the enthusiastic audience with a Bach Saraband unaccompanied.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON

No Carmel Festival would seem complete without the popular San Francisco tenor James Schwabacher and Ralph Linsley who accompanied him at the harpsichord. An ensemble of instruments was added, played by Akira Endo and Louise Russell, violinists, and Jean Fulkerson, cellist. Schwabacher rendered in his always charming tenor and manner little known songs gleaned from 17th and 18th century composers that included Schultz, Rameau, Abbatini, Rontani, Rossi, Scarlatti and particularly a group of the old English Purcell that so well suited his refinement and temperament. In the foreign songs he first read an English translation of their meanings which helped the intent audience that recalled him. We have heard Schwabacher in many kinds of big and smaller compositions, but never has he sung with more tonal success than he displayed in this recital. He is always an acquisition to the Festival.

SATURDAY

Saturday evening's program on Vocal and Instrumental virtuosity in the Eighteenth Century had the only change in the whole festival owing to trumpet. Edward Haug's having to leave. He was substituted by the orchestra leader, Paul Shure, who repeated the Bach Violin Concerto in E major given the previous Saturday and received recalls for his sympathetic rendering. Soprano Brunetta Mazzolini in Bach and Mozart arias retained the impression already given of distinguished accomplishments and charming personality. Then came the joy of hearing Rejto again in the happy Hydn concerto in D major. Its excited execution that included the orchestra brought recalls for Rejto, Salgo and all concerned. The Mozart Symphony, the Prague, was one of the most important and difficult given, with its strongly impressive introduction to four movements. To this Salgo added the Overture to The Marriage of Figaro and the beautiful Air from Bach's 3rd Suite, also played after the Haydn last Saturday.

SUNDAY

Sunday brought another sold out house to hear the E minor Mass which Salgo again gave without cuts, hence it lasted three hours. Only hearing the last half this time, one was nevertheless convinced that the whole 1961 Carmel Festival had resulted in the finest ever given due to the genius of Sandor Salgo, whose concentrated endurance, patience, knowledge and refinement makes him the conductor par excellence and one with whom all artists enjoy working. As a program planner he is unique and when to it is added the scholarly program notes of the Music Librarian, Edward Colby at Stanford University, (researched also by others,) nothing now surpasses it in the offerings of great music to the public in America. At the end another standing ovation and then the meeting of artists and friends in the backstage balcony where happy and affectionate goodbyes took place with the feeling of success that looks forward to next year.

A word is due for the whole orchestra on whom so much depended through most of the performances, and the choruses never before accomplished so much. Also a word for the good business management of Michel McKay and the many efficient helpers.

George Mosolf Party Whopping Success At Legion Hall

A community dinner, Monday night at the American Legion Hall, honored George Mosolf who retired this spring after coaching Carmel High School teams for 17 years. Mr. Mosolf will remain on the high school faculty as boys' athletic instructor.

Tributes to Coach Mosolf were paid by former members of his teams, parents of players, friends, Peninsula coaches, Mayor Frank Putnam, Judge Gordon Campbell, former chairman of the Carmel Unified School District board of trustees, was master of ceremonies. Carmel American Legion Commander Paul Artellan, who in high school played on teams coached by Mr. Mosolf, arranged for the banquet attended by 150 men.

Mr. Mosolf ended his coaching career with a remarkable record for developing championship teams. For the past three years his football teams were undefeated in B-division CCAL competition. Basketball and baseball teams coached by George Mosolf also won CCAL championships. He is proudest, however, of the fact that in all the years he coached Carmel boys, none was ever put out of a game for unsportsmanlike conduct. This contribution to the character of Carmel boys was especially lauded by speakers Tuesday night.

George Mosolf came to Carmel High School in 1941. During World War II he had leave of absence to serve with the U. S. Navy as a lieutenant. He returned as Carmel High's coach in 1946.

Among those who praised Mr. Mosolf at the banquet were, in addition to Mayor Putnam, former Mayor Fred Godwin; Lew McCreery, former Carmel High player and now a member of the coaching staff; Councilman Francis Whitaker, parent of one of Mr. Mosolf's players; Tom Handley, former player; J. O. Handley, former chairman of the Carmel Unified School District board of trustees; Marty Baskin, Pacific Grove High School coach; Dan Albert, Monterey High School coach; John Gardiner, tennis professional and former coach at Monterey High and Junipero High; Ted Fehring, coach at Carmel High when Mr. Mosolf was in the Navy and chairman of the Carmel district board of trustees until July 1.

Mr. Mosolf's success formula: "Maintain high standards of sportsmanship and loyalty and the victories will take care of themselves."

A variety of gifts, including a check for $175, was presented to Mosolf by James Kelsey.

Eustace J. Maguire, died on a ship going to Panama.

She is survived by a niece, Mrs. Charles G. Lord of Baltimore, Maryland.

Funeral services were held yesterday in Mission Mortuary. Burial followed in Monterey Catholic Cemetery.

The availability of divine protection will be brought out in Christian Science services Sunday.

This citation will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 571): "At all time and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil. Clad in the panoply of Love, human hatred cannot reach you."

From the Bible will be read this verse from Psalm 84: "Blessed are they that dwell in thy house: they will be still praising thee."

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

For some reason everybody seems to want to read the new book by White the title of which is The Making of the President, 1960. It is the inside account of the last election, and very well done. If we get many more requests we will buy a second copy. We don't want to keep you waiting too long. What did you say? I know you had to wait a long time for this one or that one, but think of the problem from our standpoint. Added copies to satisfy a sudden demand are never worn out when the demand is over. We are so short of shelf room that we will be shelving books on the floor if our circulation doesn't hold up. To try to find space for a number of added copies nobody wants to read could be the last straw.

We have the second book about the Brinks robbery, this time the inside story, as told by Specs O'Keefe to Bob Considine, who wrote the book. Specs O'Keefe started a planned life of crime at the age of six years. The author traces him to the biggest event of his life, the Brinks holdup. The title of the book is The Man Who Robbed Brinks.

If you ever have an impulse to buy something on time payments, the next book is for you. Hillel Black, the author, is a man who knows business, the buying and selling, and the profits therefrom. He writes on securities and such for several magazines, and now he has done a book called Buy Now Pay Later. Do you have a Diners Club card? The research has shown that you are probably an executive, married, with 2.1 children. You are a college graduate, about 42 years of age, and own a home valued at slightly over $30,000. Your annual income is almost $17,000 a year. And you are a status-seeker. This is a book to make you sit back and think a little. Nobody has yet invented instant money. Until that happy day comes, the dreamers are going to be in debt. Unless they read this book by Hillel Black.

We have a new book on designing and making handbags. Handbags with frames and linings and pockets, made from leather and kindred materials. Anyone can knit a square, add a zipper at the top, and call it a handbag. Read this book and you can make the real thing. It was written by W. C. Double, and illustrated with countless drawings and step-by-step diagrams. The title is The Design and Construction of Handbags.

John Donner is a young Swedish newspaperman who has had several books published, the latest of which is called Report from Berlin. Author Donner went into both sectors of Berlin, asked a million questions, and came out with a clear picture of that divided city which is so much in the eyes of the world at this time. Report on Berlin John Donner, is illustrated with photographs.

End of the line for this week. Nothing flashy, but all solid books, well worth reading.

British Lion Laughs On Tantamount Stage With Ben Small

Ben Small, character comedian, returns to the stage of Carmel Valley's Tantamount Theater in a new program opening August 4.

His current one-man-show called The British Lion Roars With Laughter, is described as an omnibus of mirth from Dickens' comic world to the maddest music hall turns. Drawing his material from the humorous writings of the British, the show complements his well-received The U. S. Laughs of last season.

A gallery of Dickens' characters will people the stage ranging from assorted boarding-house guests to Mrs. Gamp, the fat cockney midwife. The London music hall will be well represented with Victorian songs, Lancashire dialect stories, and the "true" story of Green-sleeves.

Turning to the wit of Oscar Wilde, Small will enact both Lady Bracknell and Ernest Worthing in a highlight from The Importance of Being Earnest.

The British Lion Roars With Laughter will hold the spotlight at the Tantamount for two successive weekends, playing Friday and Saturday nights. Curtain time is 8:40.

Carol Hildebrand in Japan

In letters to her mother, Mrs. Evelyn Nidever Hildebrand of Carmel, Carol Hildebrand described impressions while touring India and Japan as a professional dancer. Her partner is Fiedler, formerly a member of the Berlin Ballet Company.

Carol danced in New Delhi during the visit of Queen Elizabeth II to India. Some of the royal party dined at the Supper Club where Carol was an entertainer and she reports, "Lord Atlee liked my Charleston." The Queen, she thought, looked exquisite.

After India, Carol spent several weeks in San Francisco acquiring a new costume wardrobe. On the flight to Japan she stopped in Hawaii, Guam and Okinawa. In Tokyo she was met by an agency representative who took her to a Western style hotel across from the Imperial Palace. "Later I will request him to book me in Japanese hotels as I want to see more of Japan and its people," Carol writes.

She opened in Tokyo "at a beautiful club with a rising stage and a wonderful 14-piece band," according to her letter, in which she also tells that she received "big hands" for her part in the show.

"The atmosphere here is lovely," she continues. "Little lanterns hang outside doorways, music drifts in the air, the greenery is lush. There is a strange mixture of East and West with American influence obvious. Shops are full of goodies. Many people speak English. Tomorrow, a three-hour flight to Hokkaido," she concludes.

Carol is a Carmel High School graduate and a former Trouper of the Gold Coast. She began acting and dancing in First Theatre melodramas as a small child.

John Cole Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thompson of Carmel, will perform as guest artist with Mariano Cordoba, flamenco guitarist, (seen above) at Sunset Auditorium, August 12.

John, a graduate of Sunset School and Carmel High School, continued his education at San Francisco State College. In the city, he met Senor Cordoba and became a pupil of the maestro. John later studied in Mexico City and Madrid, Spain. He began playing professionally in Bermuda and last winter was a featured performer at El Patio Andaluz in San Francisco.

Mariano Cordoba was born in the Province of Castile. The people of his small town were so impressed with his guitar playing that they suggested he should study in Madrid and his family moved to the Spanish capital so that Mariano might study with Rafael Nozales. He began his professional career at the age of 16 playing with Maria Marren, Paco Torres, Rafael Cruz, Antonio Mariana, Flora Albaicer and Antonio Noleira. Later he toured Europe, South and North America with Antonio Ballet Espanol. He settled in San Francisco in 1956 and became an American citizen last year. He opened an authentic flamenco theatre, the first of its kind in the Bay Area. Now he devotes his entire time to concerts and recording for Capitol records his authentic flamenco and classical Spanish music.

Foundation Town House. Eighth and Lincoln, all during the month of August. Mrs. Pace will be hostess at tea from 3:00 o'clock to 5:00 o'clock opening day, Tuesday.

Mrs. Pace's delicate and sensitive bird studies have been favorites on the Peninsula since the late forties when she started doing sketches as she took trips with the Audubon Society. Many appeared in a book published by Sunset called Introduction to Western Birds. Her latest book, soon to be off the press is on seagulls, and another in the works is called Swans of the World.

Flower lovers as well as bird watchers will especially enjoy the current Town House show because each bird is perched on or flying near a local flower.

DO YOU WANT YOUR CHILDREN TO ATTEND THE CARMEL SCHOOLS? And live in a modern, spacious three bedroom house large enough for them to entertain their friends? Yet, located in a neighborhood of traditional "Carmel Charm." Beautiful new wall-to-wall carpeting, draperies and deluxe appliances included in the price of $28,500.

ARE YOU DISAPPOINTED because you cannot find a view home in Carmel for the price you had set as the maximum you should pay? Perhaps you are not aware that a house with the same view can be had elsewhere on the Peninsula for less money. One, located on the crest of the hill in old Monterey, was built by Cornstock Associates of Carmel and has many features suggestive of Carmel... grape-stake fenced garden, secluded patio, broad sun-deck and a BREATHTAKING VIEW. Big living room, two bedrooms, modern features including new forced air heating system, new nylon carpeting... everything absolutely perfect condition and only $23,750.

DO YOU KNOW ABOUT DEL REY OAKS? A quiet little residential area tucked away from noise and traffic where the sun shines brightly on many days that are dull and foggy elsewhere on the Peninsula. A neighborhood of proud home-owners who take delight in their pretty gardens. An ideal location for a retired couple wanting a smaller house on a level lot. And, there is one available... a cozy, neat two bedroom cottage in perfect condition for only $15,750.

School Tax Rate Up In Addition To Assessment Boost

could have been shaved off.

The publication budget does not show all of the fringe taxes since the rates are not set until the assessment figure becomes official. But to cover the amounts budgeted the following tax will be required, according to assistant superintendent Wayne Greenfield's estimates. The $2.15 general purpose tax includes the basic $1.65 and the 50 cent over-ride voted several years ago by a willing and loyal electorate. Added to this will be Annulity fund tax, .059; district contributions to employees retirement, .089; community services .10; district contribution of old age security .005; education of mentally retarded minors .012; total 2.35 plus .42 for several bond issues in various stages of retirement, including the new one.

Greenfield has based his estimates on the formula, one cent tax produces $4,650.

Kaufman To Direct New Comedy Opening At Circle Friday

Golden Fleeing, the American farce which opens Friday at the Golden Bough Theatre, will introduce to Carmel the work of a talented new director. Alvin Kaufman, who has been brought here for the summer especially to stage this vacation-time comedy, is a member of the drama faculty of Fresno State College, and a doctoral candidate at Stanford. Nearly a decade ago, he was a fellow graduate student of Circle Theatre director Frederick Rider and manager Nick Zanides at the University of Washington in Seattle. He has since distinguished himself as a versatile director and character actor in eastern summer stock as well as on the west coast.

Lt. Col. Allan Weinfield, who made a personal tour de force of Tevya and his Daughters, returns to the Circle as a hard-boiled admiral in Golden Fleeing. Julie Winters, former Miss Monterey County, plays the admiral's daughter, enjoying shore leave with her father's fleet in Venice. Cast opposite her is Bernie N. Baker, an actor new to Peninsula audiences, although experienced in both acting and directing, most recently at the Pasadena Playhouse.

Mary Weisiger, Marc Stewart and Nick Eldredge also contribute to the play's light-hearted intrigue, which is set in motion by the attempt of some junior officers to outsmart the roulette wheel of the Lido Casino by using a Navy computer designed to plot trajectories for guided missiles. David Hubert, Dick Vreeland and Ramsay Scott provide an assortment of comic obstacles to this adventurous experiment, and Robert Kiss and Steve Hansen play some of the Italians involved.

Golden Fleeing is the Lorenzo Semple, Jr., play which starred Tom Poston on Broadway two seasons ago, and is soon to be released as a film under the title, The Honeymoon Machine. It will play on weekends only through September 3.

Sophie Lunsford, Mrs. Russell Bradford, John Schleuter, and Colonel Joseph Wells, all of Carmel. Director of the picture is Richard Quine, assisted by Carter DeHaven.

Whittleseys Home From East

City Councilman Eben Whittlesey, Mrs. Whittlesey, their daughter, Debbie, and Mr. Whittlesey's Seeing Eye dog, Regan, are back in Carmel after a motor trip to the East Coast and back.

Mrs. Whittlesey reports Regan was invaluable when they visited the United Nations in New York. "We got spectacular treatment," she says, "didn't have to ride escalators but were escorted to elevators, given an individual guide, and didn't have to stand in line for tickets."

Debbie visited the Empire State Building, the Statue of Liberty, rode in a subway and shopped in a New York store.

The Whittleseys also visited Mr. Whittlesey's brother, Julian, at his summer home in Wilton, Connecticut, and his other brother, Granville, in Roque Bluff, Maine. They had driven a total of 8,000 miles by the time they arrived home in Carmel on Tuesday after six weeks' absence.

San Jose Summer Graduates

Board Quizzes Edwards About Dropped Courses

portion in the other languages, he said.

A possible solution, taking Russian at Monterey Peninsula College, poses another problem, transportation, the principal said. However, the two students of Russian who will be caught short this year in the change, will meet the problem by attending MPC classes.

Trustee Dr. Richard Snyder, who had requested more information on the changes in curriculum, said, "I brought it up because it seems to me that at a time when we should be offering a richer program of instruction, here we seem to be offering one increasingly less rich. I have no off-the-cuff answers but I am concerned about the problem. Are we satisfied with what we are doing?"

"I'm not," Edwards replied. He and Superintendent Stuart Mitchell reminded the board that a program for study of foreign languages in the elementary grades is "in the works." With this in operation, the language study in high school would be a matter of retaining a grasp on a familiar language.

Taking action on several other issues last night the board:

Voted to annex to the Carmel Sanitary District the valley property for the new junior high school, and to proceed at its own expense with a preliminary design study and cost survey, the work to be done by the Kennedy Engineering firm. Kennedy representatives outlined their proposed procedure to the board last night. Estimated cost is $2,000 for the survey.

Ratified a call for bids on construction of the $11,250 River School addition. Bids will be presented August 2 on the project, funds for which are included in the recent bond issue.

Voted to ask members of the existing Citizens Advisory Committee to serve for an additional year, and to poll them individually on their willingness to serve.

Voted to authorize the superintendent to advertise for bids on 400 lockers for the high school. A $5,000 entry in the board's new budget will go for this purpose.

Authorized advertising for bids on a paving job at Carmelo School playground on a 90 by 150 foot area described as "muddy in winter and dusty in summer."

Added an item to the board's standing agenda on continuing investigation into Civil Defense procedures and measures. Dr. Snyder brought this up and urged a second look into planning for CD shelters before building begins on the district's proposed new structures.

Adjourned to August 2, when the public hearing will be held on the budget.

Briefs . . .

dation, made a preliminary investigation at the invitation of the P. G. E. He recommended that a team of archeologists investigate the ancient Indian burying ground.

P. G. & E. will defray costs of the excavation and donate any relics to the new Morro Bay Museum. Already discovered mortars, arrow heads, bird bone whistles and bones indicate the ground was used by the aboriginal Morro Chumash Indians as a village burial ground. A primitive Eskimo harpoon point was also found. The only other one like it is in the British Museum.

Curiosity seekers are asked to stay away from the area so that archeologists may work unhampered and valuable relics will not be destroyed.

Colline Cabal, acrobatic dancer, and Michaela Sherry, guitarist and folk singer, will be featured on the Sunday afternoon free Forest Theater program this weekend. Slab ceramics and brushless painting will be demonstrated offstage by members of the Carmel Crafts Guild. There will also be an art exhibit.

With Mr. Kennedy asking for all these billions to build up the army to go to Berlin, we hope there'll be enough money left over to put in some more lines and some more hands at the Fort Ord Exchange. We've spent the better part of a day more than once, trying to get through to Fort Ord. They either don't answer while the phone rings and rings or you get the busy signal.

I suppose one could get them much quicker from Berlin, but what if somebody needed a regiment here in a hurry?

TWO AMBULANCE CALLS

Members of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department answered two calls for the Red Cross ambulance this week. Thursday evening, 8:06 o'clock, they went to La Playa Hotel to pick up George Hunter who had been burned with hot water and took him to the Community Hospital. Sunday afternoon, 3:17 o'clock, they went to the Pebble Beach Gun Club where Daniel F. Wray of Beverly Hills presumably had a heart attack. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Peninsula Hospital.
